Indicators for visual determination of pH values

Alternative indicators and indicator papers can be used in the tests and assays for the determination of the pH value or of its change by visual inspection provided that they have the same sensitivity in the chosen pH range.