Category

The statements given for information are intended to indicate the principal pharmacological action and therapeutic use or, for excipents, the main pharmaceutical use. It should not be assumed that the substance has no other action or use. The statements are in no way intended to be binding.